THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS HOLD SUPPER

The First Meeting of the Year Not Very Large But Very Successful.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Suggestion Adopted That Hereafter the Club Meet Once Per Month.

The Eastern Townships Club inaugurated the activities for this season last evening, when an informal supper was held in the Union lunch room followed by a meeting. A very tasty supper was served to some twenty members who were present, after which the different men were called upon to say a few words.

F. W. Hackett, secretary of the club last year, took upon himself the duties of chairman. In opening, he gave a brief resume of the work, aims and aspirations of the Eastern Townships Club. Although many organizations have suspended activities owing to the present conditions, yet he and the treasurer, G. D. Miner, did not think that such should be the case here. As a consequence, this meeting was called with the express intention of avoiding such a contingency.

The secretary's report of the last meeting was read and adopted. Then the chairman called upon the different members to say a few words.

G. H. Heslam, the first speaker, introduced his remarks with the declaration that many people at McGill look upon the E. T. Club as a sort of farmers' institute. Needless to say, the expression was somewhat erroneous, although being a farmer or the son of a farmer was nothing to be ashamed of.

The other speakers, J. R. Dean, F. D. Derrick, E. L. Robinson, F. W. Bowles, E. Smith and G. D. Miner, dwelt upon the same idea, explaining that were it not for the scientific methods of farming being used in the Townships, the country would not be built up the way it is at present. Quite a few remarks of a humorous nature crept into the different speeches, as well as numerous appropriate stories.

The electing of a new executive was the next thing to be dealt with. It was a rather curious fact that of last year's seven officers, only two had returned. The elections resulted as follows: Hon. president, Dr. Colby; president, F. W. Hackett; vice-president, C. H. Moore; treasurer, E. L. Robinson; secretary, G. H. Heslam; committee, F. W. Bowles, J. R. Dean and E. Smith.

A motion was then made by F. D. Derrick, that hereafter the club meet once a month, but not necessarily upon the same night each month. In former years it has been found that only a few meetings being held, the members have not sufficient opportunity to be come acquainted, in the real sense of the term. This motion, the speaker explained, was aimed at overcoming this difficulty. The meeting expressed its self as thoroughly in favor of the idea.

J. R. Dean suggested that every member present should stir up as much enthusiasm as possible over the club and urge each student eligible to join. He also thought it would help make the meetings more attractive and enjoyable if a short programme could be arranged. A suggestion from F. D. Derrick, which met with distinct approval, was that the secretary forward a letter to ex-President Jenks, who is now serving with the McGill Hospital, expressing the thanks of the members for his work on behalf of the club last year.

The "get-acquainted" idea presented itself in a decidedly novel aspect, when before supper commenced each member was asked to introduce himself by declaring in a loud voice his name and home town.

After arising from the table the members wended their way upstairs, there to become better acquainted and consume the excellent "smokes" provided.

Y. M. C. A. CANVASS.

Students Are Responding Well to This Appeal For Their Assistance.

Indications at present point to the fact that the canvass of the McGill Y. M. C. A. for funds will be a success. Those who are acting as collectors for the various years are going about their work in a systematic manner that is bringing results. The work of the Y. M. C. A.—both for the McGill men at the front as well as the student here in the university—is recognized by all as worthy of support. It is hoped that to-morrow night will show that the students have responded as they should to the appeal, and that the amount needed for the work of the forthcoming year will have been raised.

ENJOY VISIT TO THE SHOPS OF VICKERS

Third Year Mechanical Engineers Pay Visit to the Canadian Vickers.

INSPECT VARIOUS SHOPS

See the New Ice Breaker No. 1 Under Construction, as Well as Large Shells.

The third-year mechanical engineering students, piloted by Prof. Roberts, left the Engineering Building shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon en route for the Canadian Vickers.

On arriving at the main entrance, there was a slight delay before gaining admittance owing to the strict regulations enforced. However, they were allowed to pass in, and were first conducted through the shops, where the frames of motor-boats for the (censored) were being erected. They then went into the smithy shop, where work on the plates for the Canadian ice-breaker was going ahead.

When all the machinery and the laying off floor had been examined, the party proceeded to where the Canadian ice-breaker No. 1 was being built. It had been started some time ago, but had to be pulled apart when the rush orders for the submarines came. They had got the frame of the hull nearly rebuilt. The riveters were hard at work on the ribs, and the noise was deafening. The ice-breaker is 292 feet long and has a 57½ foot beam, is 32 feet deep and 19 foot draft.

The next to be visited was the wood-working shop. After this had been gone through, the party went down to the dock and boarded the floating drydock, Duke of Connaught, which was in two sections, and was moored to the dock inside the Vickers basin. After its chief features had been pointed out and explained, the party went around to the other side of the basin (which was the land side) and inspected more of the aforementioned motor-boats that were in more advanced stages, and were propped up on the banks. There were some nearly completed lying in the water. They were painted a grey body and red bottom. Altogether there were about twenty-five or more under construction and about ten nearly completed.

The mechanicals then entered the shop where the rough forging and some of the machinery was being done on high explosive shells. Here they discussed a 12-pounder, covered up with a tarpaulin. When they had gone through this shop, they went over to the shop outside the grounds, where the high explosive shells were machined and prepared for shipment. This last shop concluded the tour of the works, which had taken two and a half hours, and the fourteen members of the party wended their way homewards, having heartily enjoyed the afternoon.

GAS EFFECT EXPLAINED BY A SURVIVOR

First Meeting of the Year of the Architectural Society Held Last Night.

BATTERY'S PART IN YPRES

Mr. Percy Booth Occupied the Chair, Membership Affected by the War.

An appreciative number of members of the Architectural Association were treated to a very interesting talk by Mr. D. MacLennan. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, Mr. Booth, the chairman introduced Mr. MacLennan, a McGill graduate in architecture. Shortly after receiving his degree in 1914, Mr. MacLennan enlisted with the Fifth Battery as a gunner. He was not in any big engagement until Ypres. While his officers were being instructed at Armentieres, Mr. MacLennan was resting up about fifteen miles from Ypres. It was on the 17th of April that the battery received orders to go forward to Ypres. The Canadians were at this time holding about 5,000 yards of trenches, which were in the form of a horseshoe. The first few days were quiet, but the bombardment soon began. Mr. MacLennan's battery saw the action starting on Hill 60, and also had the satisfaction of seeing a German aviator brought to earth.

The ammunition supplied to the batteries had to be brought up by two roads, both of which passed through Ypres. It was for this reason that Ypres was continually bombarded. For two weeks the city burned, and all that is now left is a heap of ruins. Perhaps twelve waggons of ammunition would start out and only two or three succeed in reaching the battery. At one time the ammunition was limited to two rounds per gun. Mr. MacLennan mentioned the fact that Allen Murchison, a McGill graduate, rendered great service in supplying the batteries.

It was on the afternoon of the 22nd of April that the Germans used their gas for the first time. The attack was entirely unexpected—more especially the use of the deadly gas. The French native troops were panic-stricken, and towards five o'clock that afternoon streams of Turks, wounded, gassed or panic-stricken, passed the battery.

The result of this gas was that the Germans captured 5,000 yards of trenches. Had the enemy advanced much further, a bag of 50,000 prisoners would have resulted. The Canadians retreated to strengthen out the line. This line remains much the same at the present time.

Mr. MacLennan described the gas as yellow smoke, and by the time the gas reached the battery two miles back, it had lost much of its strength. The gas produced a tickling sensation in the throat. At the time Mr. MacLennan was not greatly affected, but later he became worse and returned home in August.

As the ground about Ypres is flat and unsuited for cover, the position of the batteries were usually located after a few hours. This occasioned much moving around, which was very difficult.

Mr. MacLennan then stated he was ready to answer any questions about the battle. Much interest was evinced as to the size of the gas and the shells. A thing which strikes one is the cheerful spirit of the British soldier under trying circumstances.

After the applause had subsided, a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. MacLennan. He replied in very modest terms and stated that he was only too glad to speak to the association.

Owing to the decreased membership, it was decided to dispense with the proposed separate architectural library.

In future meetings are to be held on the first Wednesday of each month, and an effort will be made to provide refreshments. Any people interested in architecture are invited to join the association.

As no further business was on hand, the meeting adjourned.

HISTORICAL CLUB HOLDS A MEETING

In order that the Historical Club might be able to start the season with an approximately full membership, a meeting was called yesterday to vote in a number of new members and swell the body to a respectable size.

As the meeting was not strictly regular owing to the number present, it was decided to vote in the proposed names provisionally only, and that the regular nomination should be held at a later regular meeting. As A. Harvey, the vice-president, had gone to the front, Mr. De W. Scott, who was in the chair for the meeting, called for nominations for this provision. Mr. L. H. Nichols was elected by acclamation.

After the speakers on the subjects of the submarine and the dreadnought were arranged for, the meeting adjourned.

The next regular meeting of the club will take place on Wednesday next, at 8 p.m., at Dr. Colby's house.

The Hobby Horse

Without a hobby an appreciable part of a student's life is lost. We do not mean by that, that singularity is a thing to be fostered, nor the perennial race of cranks to be encouraged; but a definite sort of student activity should claim each undergraduate's spare moments. Be it debate or poetry, stamps or curios, the side issues are often profitable. Over side issues at times every great man has unbent himself. Gladstone felled oaks at Hawarden as a methodical pastime; Roosevelt studies Celtic literature. Coming nearer home we find many of the professors with whom we come in daily contact engaged, during their spare moments, in making gardens, studying phonetics, tempting the wily bass or pursuing the still more elusive golf ball. An earnest life is valuable even in the bye-products of its less strenuous hours. Take for example the man who makes the collection of stamps his hobby. Such a man learns not only that there are so many hundreds of varieties of stamps in the world, but he receives a certain education in the paper makers art as well. He learns the difference between wove paper and laid paper, for example, and a hundred and one other things which, perhaps, in themselves, do not appear to be of any great value, but which some day may prove extremely useful. The objection may be made that the hobby takes up time which should be devoted to other things. We admit that; but is that the fault of the hobby or of the man? Because a man is senseless enough to allow a pleasure to interfere with his duty, do you argue that, therefore, the pleasure should be condemned unconditionally? All routine and no hobby makes Jack a dull, limited creature.

Your Mistake, Queen's!

"Unlike the Universities of Toronto and McGill, Queen's will experience an actual seventy per cent. reduction in social functions this year. All students' social functions at Queen's must and do take place at and in connection with the University and hence there are no students' dances out in the city such as are found elsewhere. Queen's students will take part in three dances and three only, while, though Toronto and McGill avow publicly that social functions are being curtailed, our acquaintances in attendance there assure us that the whole round of social gaiety is being surreptitiously carried on to as great an extent as ever before. Our system at Queen's may well lay claim to be the most honest, above-board and patriotic arrangement after all."—Queen's Journal. "Our acquaintances" must be most unreliable informants and "us" very gullible indeed, if the Journal really means what it says. "The whole round of social gaiety" is not being carried on at McGill, surreptitiously, or otherwise, and if the Journal requires any proof of this, a visit to this vicinity for a week or more will convince our worthy contem. Meanwhile, there does not appear to be any appreciable slump in the number of social functions being held at Queen's. From a recent issue it is learned that the Aesculapian Society of that University has decided to go ahead with its annual dinner, and that not for the benefit of the Red Cross or any similar organization. In fact, a proposal to turn over the proceeds to the Queen's Base Hospital, now stationed at Cairo, was turned down through failure to secure a two-thirds majority in its favor. The Journal at least is not surreptitious in the way in which it claps itself on the back. They advertise their decrease in pleasure, but McGill have none to advertise.

Editorial Notes

The results of the recruiting speech for the C. O. T. C. two nights ago at the Wesleyan College were most creditable. They show a good example and offer a challenge that the other colleges would do well to take up. Those who take up the work will be well repaid.

DECREASE AT QUEEN'S.

Registrar G. Y. Brown reports that the actual attendance of the students at Queen's University at this time is 1,900 as compared with 1,200 a year ago. The students are not all back yet. For instance there are the Engineering Corps men at Barfield camp yet to be enrolled. There is a falling off in science and medical students particularly. The medical registration to date is 185. Country extramurals, Queen's total registration this session will be about 30 per cent. less than the last session.

STUDENTS OF OTTAWA HAVE CALLED STRIKE

Cause Was Result of Faculty Not Granting Customary Holiday.

FOUR ARE DISMISSED

Remaining English Students at College About to Leave Soon.

After a month's comparative quiet, fresh trouble started at Ottawa College Tuesday evening, and the climax was reached yesterday morning with the dismissal of four of the students. In past years the boarders have always been given a free afternoon on certain holidays, as Thanksgiving Day, All Saints' Day, etc.; but this year the faculty decided not to be so lavish with their privileges, and consequently curtailed many free days. Several other regulations which the boarders did not like have been introduced, and the result was that about two months ago two of the students of the seventh form—J. O'Keefe and F. Murphy, and P. Fink, of the sixth form—left for St. Francis Xavier, Antigonish. These students were not dismissed, but left of their own accord.

Since then nothing exciting has occurred until Tuesday afternoon. The Prefect of Discipline announced at dinner that there would not be a free afternoon. The boys had planned seeing friends during the afternoon, and were keenly disappointed at the new rule.

Immediately after dinner rumors of a "strike" were heard. For once in the history of the institution the English and French boys were together. About twenty-five members of the "Big Yard" took the afternoon off, but it was really after supper that the strike became general, and over eighty of the total number of 115 of the senior boys took in the "movie" shows in a body, returning to the dormitory at 10.30. The authorities did not act until after class started yesterday morning, when four were picked out as ringleaders, told to pack up and be out of the city before evening. "Bill" Ryan, of New York, who pitched for the college team a couple of exhibition games, was one of the unlucky ones. The other three were French students—Bourke Boucher, Leveque and Gauthier. Not only were these boys dismissed, but eleven students who resided in the city, but boarded at the college, were informed that they would have to either board at home and attend as day scholars, or quit college.

It is expected that other punishments will be dealt out to the boarders in general, and there are also rumors of more dismissals.

The boys are up in arms over the affair, and claim that the right leaders were not selected, and that they were justified in asking for a free day on All Saints' Day. Several of the boys are writing home to find out if they can leave, and it is expected that the rest of the English boarders, now seven in number, will leave shortly.

MR. J. WOODSWORTH SPEAKS TO Y.W.C.A.

Interesting Address Given by This Busy Authority on Social Questions.

The first regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held in the R. V. C. on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 3, the new president, Miss Kathleen Baker, '17, presiding. The constitution was read and several amendments regarding membership were made. Mr. Woodsworth, of Winnipeg, secretary of the Canadian Welfare League, has been secured as speaker for this meeting, and gave an extremely interesting address, dealing with the modern social questions of city and country. Mr. Woodsworth has promised to give a short series of talks upon such subjects, touching upon immigration and labor problems, the city slums, the changes in the modern cities, and how to meet these changes, etc., so all will have a chance in the next month to hear this popular speaker.

INITIAL PRACTICE OF MANDOLIN CLUB

All Players Earnestly Requested to Turn Out and Help the Club.

The initial practice of the McGill Mandolin Club will be held at the Peate School of Music on Monday, Nov. 8, at 7.15 p.m., and it is earnestly desired that every McGill man who can make a fairly respectable noise on the mandolin will be on deck to do his little bit. All the big American universities have their mandolin clubs, and there is no reason why McGill should be behind them in this respect. There are undoubtedly a number of men around college who are proficient on the mandolin, but who labor under the delusion that in being a member of a college musical organization large demands will be made on their time. This is certainly a misapprehension of a large order. The McGill Mandolin Club holds but two hourly practices a month; consequently the ancient "cheeze of no time" will hardly hold good in this case.

During the coming session the club will assist at and give a number of concerts, some of them for charity. So, come forward, mandolin players, and help out a good cause.

MED. '17 AT VAUDEVILLE.

Class Have a Pleasant Hour Away From the Worries of Hospital.

The medical class of '17 took advantage of a few vacant hours in its schedule yesterday afternoon to turn its thought from the gentle art of healing to some of the lighter things of life, namely, vaudeville, the light fantastic and ragtime melodies as they are presented to a pleasure-seeking public at the Orpheum. Never before has a class of medical students given more perfect attention to any performance. For some of the acts "there's a reason"; other acts cause each one to meditate much. With the exception of one or two yells, the class did not attract any undue attention, for the medics of '17 have put away childish things.

THE SOCIETE FRANCAISE AT R. V. COLLEGE

Initial Meeting of This Club Was Held Yesterday Afternoon.

"STUDENT LIFE IN PARIS"

This the Subject of Entertaining Address by Miss Caldwell.

The opening meeting of the Societe Francaise was held yesterday afternoon in the common room. Miss Rachel Weinfeld, the president, was in the chair. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read, Miss Weinfeld expressed her pleasure at seeing so many of the old members, and gave a most hearty welcome to all newcomers. Although the meetings of the whole year have not as yet been outlined, the members were informed that there would be two more before Christmas. To the first of these the Cercle Francaise is to be invited, and at the second a playlet will be republished.

The president then introduced Miss Clair Caldwell, who has been studying for the past two years in Paris. Miss Caldwell spoke in a most entertaining way on "Student Life in Paris." She said that she could not do full justice to the many phases of her life while there, but would be able to touch on only a few points. Nevertheless, the escapades of the students, and the promenades became very real. The theatre, the opera, the visits to the museums had all formed part of the life, and time was by no means all devoted to the pursuit of study. Miss Caldwell also read extracts from letters which she had received from her friends in France, giving descriptions of Zeppelin raids and various other experiences of war-time.

Miss Weinfeld expressed her thanks to the speaker on behalf of the society. The meeting then adjourned for tea.

"CO-ED" DEFINED.

Definition Given by Western Paper of This Forbidden Word.

The following is an excerpt from the Daily Palo Alto of Leland Stanford University, and gives the opinion of one of the women instructors of that University on the subject, "What is a co-ed?"

"Hear the latest? We're all 'co-eds'."

"In spite of the fact that the word 'co-ed' is forbidden from the Daily Palo Alto columns, we're forced to break a rule for once to let the truth out. We're all 'co-eds.' We have put quotations around the word, to show that we didn't just 'slip up.'"

"The authority for this 'co-ed' dope is Mrs. Theresa P. Russell (instructor in English).

"Women are no more co-eds than men," said Mrs. Russell. "They are so called because they came last into the American college. But co-education means mutual education, and both men and women should be called co-eds. However, if the woman is the co-ed, the man must be the ed." "Whereupon, the members of the Gridiron class disagreed, and the men present promptly declined to be either 'co-eds' or 'eds.'—Exchange.

WOULD BE AN INNOVATION

Mr. Justice Pelletier Admits That Women of the Province Are Intelligent as Any.

"There are bachelor clubs, but it does not follow that old maids should be admitted," said Mr. Justice Trenholme, when he dismissed the appeal in the Court of King's Bench, Appeal Side, of Mrs. Langstaff, Law '15, nee Annie Macdonald vs. the Bar of the Province of Quebec, the appellant asking that she be allowed to take the Bar examinations, being duly qualified to do so, and if successful to practice law in the Province of Quebec. The judgment was rendered before Chief Justice Sir Horace Archambault, and Mr. Justices Trenholme, Laverne, Carrol and Pelletier. Mr. Justice Laverne dissenting.

Mr. Justice Trenholme in dismissing the appeal, said that on the grounds of sex alone it should be dismissed. By the law women are excluded from the practice of the law and the word "he" in the act. His Lordship did not consider incorporated both sexes. The old law of 1785 which refused admission of women to the legal profession had never been repealed, and there was no provision in the Bar Act to allow such. There is no law, said His Lordship, which permits the admission of women to the Bar in the Province of Quebec and no provision has been made for admitting them.

Chief Justice Sir Horace Archambault said that if the argument that the word "he" in Art. 17 meant that the masculine included the feminine, the feminine must therefore include the masculine, could it be maintained that a male could apply for a mandamus to enter a female community. In France special legislation was required to admit women to the Bar. In Rome, Calpurnia, wife of Caesar, was an advocate in a case, the action was dismissed, and in consequence of her behaving so badly when judgment was given against her client, the legislature of Rome forbade women to plead.

Mr. Justice Pelletier said that the argument that the women of the Province of Quebec were as intelligent as any in the world was not disputed, but this did not affect the fact that according to the law for years and years, only men have been admitted, and the admittance of a woman would be a complete innovation, a question, which he agreed with his brother judges, was a question for the Legislature to decide and out of the powers of the courts.

Their Lordships stated that it was on this ground alone that the judgment of Mr. Justice St. Pierre, in the Superior Court, was upheld, and that they wished to eliminate all the other remarks made by him in his judgment. The dissenting judgment of Mr. Justice Laverne was to the effect that we must consider the law of Quebec alone, and that under Art. 17, par. 9 of the Civil Code, and Sec. 21 of the Revised Statutes of Quebec, the masculine includes the feminine, except where the context is clearly to the contrary, and that in the Bar Act, the context is not to the contrary, and women should be admitted.

Mrs. Langstaff, after judgment was rendered, stated that she would now, through her attorney, Mr. S. W. Jacobs, K.C., apply to the Legislature for either a definition of Art. 17 or an amendment of the same.

ORCHESTRA PRACTICE.

The second orchestra practice will be held to-night at 7.30, in the Strathcona Hall. All last year's men and all present at the last rehearsal are expected to attend. Also any musicians in college who have not been up to any rehearsals as yet will try and turn out for to-night's practice.

CAXTON'S PRINTING.

When Caxton brought the printing press into England, in 1476, he was, as Green, the historian points out, a man of business, "no rival of the Venetian Aldi, or of the classical printers of Rome, but resolved to get a living from his trade, supplying priests with service books and preachers with sermons, furnishing the clerk with his 'Golden Legend,' and knight and baron with 'joyous and pleasant histories of chivalry.'"

"But while careful to win his daily bread, he found time to do much for what of higher literature lay fairly to hand. He printed all the English poetry of any moment that was then in existence. His reverence for that 'worshipful man, Geoffrey Chaucer,' who 'ought to be eternally remembered,' is shown, but merely by his edition of the Canterbury Tales, but by his reprint of them when a purer text of the poem offered itself. The poems of Lydgate and Gower were added to those of Chaucer. The Chronicle of Brut and Higden's Polychronicon were the only available works of an historical character then existing in the English tongue, and Caxton not only printed them, but himself continued the latter up to his own time. A translation of Boethius, a version of the Enchiridion from the French, and a tract or two of Cicero, were the stray fruits of the classical press in England."

NEWS OF THE STUDENT SOLDIERS

UNIVERSITIES COMPANY HOLD ATHLETIC DAY

Stadium Scene of Successful Sports Staged by the Sherbrooke Street Soldiers.

VETERAN GIVES LECTURE

Lieut. Pemberton, P. P. C. L. I., Back From Front Talks to Fourth Company.

The Fourth University Company yesterday held one of the most successful sports days this season. Every one of the Unit took part in one or more of the events, as is evidenced by the large entry lists in the various contests. The officers entered thoroughly into the spirit of the sports, and those that were not taking part in the athletic competition, stood by and acted as judges, and looked after the entries to the different events. The Company sports were held at the McGill Stadium and in spite of the difficulty of athletics in smooth-soled service boots and tight puttees some very good time was made.

Results of Events.

Fifty-four men entered for the 100 yard dash: 1st, Deltz; 2nd, Blott; 3rd, J. Browne.

Thirty-six entered for the 220 yards, which event was won by: 1st, Lance-Corp. MacLean; 2nd, Pte. Geddes; 3rd, Pte. Ferrier.

The 440, in which eighteen entered, was won by: 1st, L. A. Brown; 2nd, Pte. Wells. Next came the Fat Man's Race, which proved to be very amusing to the onlookers, as all the "big" men of the company were in it, no one being allowed to compete unless over 180 pounds in weight. This event was won by: 1st, Pte. A. Black; 2nd, Pte. Lewis; 3rd, Roach, and had altogether thirteen entrants.

The next two events were also of an amusing aspect to the onlookers, the first being the Pick-a-back race, in which twenty-five teams, or fifty men participated. Pte. Fuller and Erb came first, while as a close second came Ptes. Mount and Richardson.

This was followed by the Human Wheelbarrow Race, which was won by: 1st, Ptes. Fidler and Fenwick, and 2nd, Ptes. Hall and Traunwieser, and in this there were thirty-two teams entered or sixty-four men in total.

The closest event of the programme was the mile, which was then run off. The whole time it was a struggle of supremacy between Lieut. Higgins and Pte. Luck, and in the last fifty yards Lieut. Higgins still had a reserve of speed which he let go in a final spurt, overhauled the former who was then leading by about ten yards, and breasted the tape about five yards ahead of Luck. The final standings being: 1st, Lieut. Higgins; 2nd, Pte. Luck; 3rd, Pte. Fitch.

The next event, the Broad Jump, was won by: 1st, Lieut. Higgins (16 ft. 9 in.); 2nd, Pte. Deltz (16 ft. 8 in.); and 3rd, Pte. J. Brown (15 ft. 6 in.).

Barrel Tilted Good Fun.

Barrel Tilted is a somewhat new sport, which certainly satisfies the most fun loving of all. It consists of two men standing on the tops of empty inverted barrels, and trying to knock each other over by means of a stuffed gunny sack stuck on the end of a staff. Many came forward and gave much amusement to the onlookers by their jumpy antics, when they endeavored to keep their balance, while at the same time hitting wildly at the opponent. No decision was arrived at as regards the winner of this, as owing to lack of time it could not be fought out to a finish.

The 16 Pound Shot Put was won by Lance-Corp. MacLean with a distance of 31 ft. 6 in., while Pte. Blott came 2nd with 31 ft. 4 in. to his credit, and Pte. Lord 3rd, who sent the shot 28 ft. 4 in.

Bomb throwing was another useful event, in which the candidate was given ten different shaped, and different weighted pieces of iron, which he was to try and throw into a four foot square from a distance of about twenty yards. One of twenty shots, Pte. Hawthorne came 1st, getting ten, or fifty per cent. of the bombs in, while Pte. Bromley was a close second, with nine bombs in the square.

Platoons Competed.

The Pick-a-back Wrestling was one of the chief events of the morning, and in this event ten teams, or twenty men from competing platoons were lined up facing each other, and on the word started at each other across a hollow square of spectators, and "engaged." All rode pick-a-back and the winning platoon was declared as that side which first had all the opposing platoon thrown on the ground. This was run off in two heats and a final. No. 1 Platoon beating No. 2; No. 4 Platoon beating No. 3, while the final was won by No. Platoon which succeeded in beating No. 4.

The Tug-of-War was the last event run off, and this proved to be the most exciting. Teams of the heaviest and strongest men of each platoon were picked and pitted against each other. In the first heat No. 3 Platoon succeeded in pulling No. 1 Platoon over, while in the second heat No. 4 was victorious over No. 2, and in the final test of strength No. 4 Platoon proved the victor.

It was now time to return to barracks for dinner, so it was decided to run off the relay race between the Platoons in the afternoon.

War Veteran Lectures.

At one-forty the Company assembled in Strathcona Hall, to hear a lecture from Lieut. Pemberton, of the P. P. C. L. I. Mr. Pemberton, before the war was a citizen of the U. S. A., but upon the declaration of war he joined the original P. P. C. L. I. that was then being formed and he crossed with

SCIENCE MAN ON LISTENING PATROL DUTY

Corpl. W. R. Harkness, Science '17, at the Front With Patricias.

HEARD GERMANS TALK

Mining and Counter-Mining Only Activities Along Patricias' Front.

How he journeyed with a patrol to within a few yards of the German trenches and returned to his own quarters unscathed and unnoticed, is related in a letter received recently from Corp. W. R. Harkness, Sci. '17, who went overseas with the Second Universities Company, and is now attached to the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. Mining and counter-mining were the only activities on the Princess Pats' front at the time of the writing of Corp. Harkness' letter, who also tells of the arrival with the regiment of Capt. McDougall, Capt. Molons, and Lieuts. Currie and Mackenzie, originally with the Second Company. Corp. Harkness writes:

"As I said, we have been in the trenches again, and, fortunately, our platoon had no casualties beyond a couple of the fellows getting slight cuts from shots hitting the parapet and scattering dirt, etc. This time I was out on a patrol in front of the trenches. We were only 45 yards from the Germans, and four of us went out about half-past six and were out two hours. We were about twenty yards from the German trenches. There were two bomb-throwers, another fellow and myself. Our object was to find out what the German digging party we heard was doing. We got out through an old trench leading out under our parapet, and walked about fifteen yards under cover, then had to get down and crawl on our stomachs the rest of the way to a place where the two bomb-throwers left us to watch while they went on ahead. We lay there in the grass and listened, while the other two, who were old hands, crawled on ahead. We found out that the digging that night at least was behind their lines, so we crawled back to our own trenches. They sent up a few flares while we were out, and we had to drop to the ground and stay quiet until they died down. A few shots whistled over our heads, but they were just chance shots, as they did not see us or they would have used a machine gun. Each of the bomb-throwers carried five bombs besides their rifles, while we had our rifles, so we would have been able to put up quite a good fight if we had met a German patrol. We were so close that we could hear them cough and talk and laugh. It made me a little nervous at first, but I got used to it. Still I was glad when we stepped over our own barbed wire and got back into our own trenches. The rest of the time it was quiet, and the weather was fine, so we didn't have a bad time."

"You say you wonder where we are. Naturally I can't say, but I think that it is all right to say that the place we left a month ago was Armentieres, so you see that we missed the big scrap around there just by a couple of weeks. Oh, well, our turn will come. Where we are now the Germans are mining under us and we are mining under them. It is just a matter of time, but I think we will get there first and blow them up before they get there to do the same."

"We are out for a rest again. Capt. McDonald, Capt. Molson, Mr. Currie and Mr. Mackenzie, four of the six officers of our company, came out yesterday, and I was talking to them this morning. Gee! we were all glad to see them. We are short of officers, and are mighty glad that they are the ones who came. Major Gault also came out. Capt. McDonald expects the Third Company out in about three weeks. Mr. Mackenzie said that it was a fine company. He was in command of it for a while while he was at Shorncliffe, as their own officers are not coming over yet. We don't yet know when our officers will be posted, but when Mr. Mackenzie heard that we, his old platoon, were in No. 1 Company, he said he would try and get in it himself. I hope he does, as he is a fine man and a very good officer."

them to France as an officer. He has been returned twice from the front badly wounded, and has about ten bullet wounds on his person, but at present he is on leave and expects to return to the front again shortly. He spoke to the men on his experiences at the front, and gave particular attention to latest methods of using bombs. He also outlined the way in which the water and food supply is cared for, and also he gave the men detailed instructions on the proper use of loop-holes.

After this Platoons Numbers 1 and 2 were taken in hand, and given bayonet instruction. The instructors yesterday afternoon being those men that Lieut. Traquair of the 5th Royal Highlanders, has been training for the last few weeks. The rest of the Company went out under their respective officers and did Platoon drill, thus finishing off a very busy but enjoyable day for the men of the Fourth Universities Company.

BOB WILSON IS ONE OF POPULAR HOSPITAL MEN

So Says Pte. Bert Culyer In Latest of His Interesting Letters.

"JIMMY" LEE MARRIED

Pte. Culyer Looks For Final Victory for the Allies Before Winter is Over.

That Jimmy Lee, Med. '14, captain of the champion McGill football team of 1913, has been married to a lady doctor in England; and is now settled in practice there, is the news contained in a letter written by Pte. Bert W. Culyer, No. 3 (McGill) General Hospital, to the latter's father, W. Culyer, hall porter at the McGill Union. Pte. Culyer, among a number of other interesting news items, mentions the fact that "Bob" Wilson, Med. '15, is one of the most popular men with the unit. His letter reads in part:

"We made another big advance yesterday, and consequently we are very busy to-day. We had a lot of the good old London Scottish in to-day. I recognized their kilts (or what was left of them) in a minute, although it is about fifteen years since I used to have those little walks with them at Cambridge. It brought back some old memories to me, you bet. I bet the poor devils would like a good pork pie from Bradford's now (so would I). I forget what pork pie tastes like."

"I would not be at all surprised if they sent us to Greece. There are lots of rumors floating around to that effect. Perhaps we stand a chance of getting turkey to eat then."

"Jimmy Lee married a lady doctor and has bought a practice in England. Some of our fellows saw him before we left."

"I am going for a bike ride to-morrow if it does not rain. That will make the third time I have left camp since we came here four months ago, except when I have been bathing. However, I still think that it will be all over before winter is finished. We have them on the run now, and when the cavalry gets them on the open ground, what ho!"

"The fourth year men are not going home after all. Things are still going well up the line. I'll bet ten to one that Lille is captured before you get this letter. The 24th are in the reserve trenches, being broken in by the first contingent. The 42nd arrived here last week and have gone to the same place. I am O.K., but for a bit of a cold, which is very fashionable now. Charlie Stewart is looking forward to that game of billiards. Bob Wilson wishes to be remembered to you. He is a fine fellow and a great favorite of every one in camp. Foxy Reid, Norm Williamson, Dud Ross, Monty, Redman and a host of others ask to be remembered."

WILL BE MARRIED.

Mr. J. V. McKenzie, of 4th Universities Company, to be Married in Near Future.

The approaching marriage is announced of Mr. J. Vernon McKenzie, of the Fourth Universities Company, Princess Patricia's, to Miss Edna Chapman, of London, Ont. The wedding will take place on Friday, Nov. 5, at the residence of the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Gordon Ruthledge, 423 Keel street, Toronto.

Mr. McKenzie is a former member of the Montreal Star staff, and he will shortly sail for England, to be later joined by his bride at Shorncliffe.

BASE HOSPITAL TO BE RAISED BY DALHOUSIE

After Repeated Offers, Dalhousie's Gift is at Last Accepted.

MCGILL L.L.D. COMMANDS

Fifth Year Medical Students Take a Special Course to Qualify.

Word has been received at Halifax from Ottawa authorizing the formation of a Dalhousie Stationary Hospital of four hundred beds for service abroad. The first movement towards some such thing came from the fifth-year medical students of last year, who desired to form an ambulance corps to go with the second contingent. Their request was transmitted by the university to the authorities at Ottawa last October. The corps did not materialize, however, as it did not fit in with anything the Government required, says the Dalhousie Gazette.

As the fifth-year medicals were not to be denied, the university then made arrangements with Colonel Grant, the medical officer of the 6th Division, whereby men of the last year in medicine might qualify for the medical corps. This course was taken by eight of the men. Six qualified in December.

With such a spirit abroad among the students, it was not long before the idea of a Dalhousie Stationary Hospital came to the front. Its leaders were the doctors of the medical faculty. On November 28, 1914, the president, in the name of the Dalhousie University, wired to the Militia Department at Ottawa offering to recruit for overseas service a stationary hospital composed of Dal. medical men, graduates and students. The Department in turn transmitted the offer to the British War Council, who wired Dr. Mackenzie in December, thanking the university, but expressing regret that just then they had no opening for such a unit.

Matters stood thus till April, 1915, when the offer was again made by the president. Still the War Office said it had no place for another hospital. In September, Dr. Mackenzie renewed the offer. This time a more favorable reception greeted it. Ottawa approved, and again cabled the offer to London. The War Council accepted it with Ottawa. Ottawa then asked that an officer commanding be chosen. The lot fell upon Dr. John Stewart, LL.D., McGill '11. Final orders are now being awaited from headquarters. Very soon, however, an announcement may be expected as to the personnel of the medical staff, nurses and privates. Any delay in the going forward of this unit that may ensue is due entirely to the Government's inability at once to provide the necessary equipment.

COLLEGE PAPERS PROHIBIT LIQUOR ADS FROM PAGES

At a meeting of the Association of College Newspaper Publishers held recently at the offices of the Columbia Spectator, New York City, 39 college newspapers prohibited liquor advertisements of all kinds from their columns. Any violation of this rule is to be punished by expulsion from the association.

The McGill Daily has prohibited such advertisements from its pages for several years.

"TOM" GRAYDON IS NEW DRUM MAJOR

Band This Season Promises to be Best Since Its Establishment.

When the re-organized students' band marches out with the C.O.T.C. some three weeks hence, after receiving due practice, "Tom" Graydon, drum major, will be at the head of drum major. "Tom" has been acting as such with the bugle band for some time, and with the C.O.T.C. band will make an able successor to "Babe" Ryan and "Slim" Patterson.

Numerous applications for membership in the band have been received by Charles Gibbs, Sci. '16, bandmaster, who looks forward to the most successful season in the band's existence. The men are most enthusiastic and anxious to get in line, and it may be necessary to enlarge the band to admit all those who desire to join.

The band will assemble for its first rehearsal at 4.30 p.m. to-day, at the C.O.T.C. headquarters, 425 Sherbrooke street west.

The following men will report at that time:

C. R. Gibbs, R. Clough, J. N. Beaton, K. C. Roseborough, T. Blinmore, G. L. Trapp, D. Ross-Ross, A. T. Bone, H. Mouquin, W. E. Henderson, J. C. Morphy, L. Amdur, J. R. Desy, C. A. Monet, D. J. QUEEN'S UNIT IS NOW BEING ORGANIZED

Over Two Hundred Men Are To Be Recruited For Battery.

WILL BE HEAVY BATTERY

Half Required Number of Men Have Already Decided to Join.

The Artillery unit from Queen's University, has been accepted by the Militia Department, and the work of organization has already been started. As yet it is not definitely known whether this will be a light or heavy battery, but judging from the fact that militia orders call for 200 N.C.O.'s and men and 5 officers, it will be a heavy battery. The light artillery does not need nearly this strength to operate. Of the 200 men, 70 will be drivers, the remaining 130 men will be made up of graduates, under-graduates and their friends. Artillery is the second highest aim of military service and highly trained men are needed. Since the individual counts for more here than he does in infantry, Queen's men will act as officers, N.C.O.'s and gunners.

This battery will go as far as England as a unit and no drafts will be taken from it while it is in training in Canada.

Already about half of the required number have signified their intention of joining the corps. On Saturday, a meeting was called by Major Gill and attestation papers were given out. Those who have filled in the papers will be medically examined at the Military Hospital on Monday, Nov. 1st. The oath will be taken before Magistrate Farrell and then as soon as the papers have passed through the proper channels the men will be placed on the pay roll.

It is expected that uniforms will be on hand within a couple of weeks. As soon as the old Collegiate on Clergy street is properly equipped, the men will go into barracks there. Everything is being done to make this place as comfortable as possible. As soon as a sufficient number have been passed by the medical examiner, foot drill and physical drill will be held daily, at hours so arranged as not to conflict with class work. In case of unfavorable weather, physical drill in the gymnasium will take the place of the foot drill. During the winter certain lectures will be given on such subjects as slinging guns, lashing and knotting.

All possible haste is being made by those in charge to get the work started and it is expected that this unit will be as successful and as competent as the other Queen's units now at the front. Although no concessions will be made as to classes, the Senate will take into full consideration the sacrifices made and to be made by the members.

This material is bodied forth in such brisk and spirited dialogue, and is so enlivened by diverse effective theatrical experiments, notably the pseudo forger's disappearance while posing for a flashlight picture, that the audience could not help but enjoy it.

years it contains only one set of rules, a set that will govern all amateur basketball games.

In the past there have been two distinct sets of basketball rules—those of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and those of the Amateur Athletic Association. There were many differences between the two, and this created dissatisfaction and misunderstanding, as there was no common basis on which two teams that were accustomed to different codes could meet. These differences were present even among college and school teams, although during the past two years the college rules had gained greatly in popularity and were being widely used.

Several efforts have been made during the last three years to bring the two committees together for the purpose of agreeing upon a uniform code, but nothing was ever accomplished.
Last spring, however, a joint committee, composed of three representatives from the National Collegiate A.A. and A.A.U., and the International Y.M.C.A., held a series of meetings which resulted in the formulation of the code of rules just published. Dr. J. E.
Raycroft, of the Princeton University Faculty, who is chairman of the collegiate rules committee, was chairman of this joint committee also.

Collegiate Rules in Main.
A careful consideration was given to the two sets of rules, and the best points of each code were adopted. In some cases entirely new rules were formulated. In the main, however, the collegiate rules were followed exclusively.

The official Guide is divided up into four parts. The first part deals with items of general interest, such as the history of the game, and the general interpretation of the rules. The second is devoted to the Y.M.C.A., because this is the oldest basketball organization. The A.A.U., the next rulemaking body, is treated of in the third, and schools and colleges in the fourth.

Dr. Raycroft has edited the comments on the rules, and on the interpretation of them. He points out that an effort has been made to state the rules as definitely as possible, which is something that has not been accomplished heretofore. All the rules pertaining to a certain subject have been gathered in one place, instead of being scattered under several heads. Efforts have been made, also, to reduce the unsportsmanlike features of the game.
One of the new rules in this latter direction is as follows: "When a referee has awarded the ball to a player out-of-bounds, an opponent may not touch it and so check the play until his team mates have 'covered their opponents.'" This will also serve to prevent one of the common causes of delay in the games.

At the end of the basketball season, letters will be sent to the various school, college and amateur teams, asking just what suggestions and criticisms each has to offer. The replies will be tabulated, and will be given careful consideration at the annual meeting of the committee in the spring.

TWO PERIODS GYM. A WEEK FOR FRESHMEN

Various Hours Assigned For Wrestling, Fencing, Hockey
And Basketball.

LAST LIST OF TRANSFERS

No Regular Attendance is Required of Men Above the First Year.

All first-year students who are signed up for gymnasium, boxing, wrestling, fencing, hockey and basketball are responsible for two periods' attendance per week at the Central Y.M.C.A. until further notice. The hours are Tuesdays, Thursday, Saturdays, 5.15 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.
Mondays, 6 to 6.30.
Tuesdays, 6 to 6.30.
Wednesdays, 5.30 to 6.30.
Thursdays, 6 to 6.30.
Saturdays, 4 to 6.

All attendances are recorded by numbers, and students should be sure that their proper numbers are received.
The following is the final list of transfers, no more being issued excepting to the C.O.T.C., and to boxing, wrestling and fencing.

Transfers to the B. V. and F. Club will be made next week, and due notice will be given when applications will be received:

53. Cohen, J., gym to swimming.
208. Parker, C. A., basketball to swimming.
109. Pickel, M. R., gym to swimming.
103. Smith, J. W. H., to C.O.T.C.

ming.
128. Heney, V. P., gym to swimming.

8. Vaughan, J. M., to swimming.
52. Leahy, M., gym to swimming.
The next gym. class is this afternoon at 5.15.

No regular attendance is required of men above the freshman year, but they are at liberty to take the classes at any time.

GRADUATE RETURNS.

E. H. Hamilton, Sci. '84, has been visiting this city after an extended tour of the western states, British Columbia and North-West Territories and across Canada. Mr. Hamilton attended the International Engineering Congress in San Francisco, and is returning to his home in Virginia.

AVIATOR FROM LAW '17.

Pat Kennedy, Now in Dayton, Ohio, is Learning the Flying Game.

Pat Kennedy, who was a member of the Law '17 last year, deserted the pursuit of the legal profession and decided that he could rise more quickly and higher in the world if he took up aviation. A letter to T. S. Ram, Law
'17, from Pat enclosed a few snaps of himself rigged out in his aviator's costume and the machine he is using.
Unfortunately the snaps are not large enough for proper reproduction here, but the few words written on the reverse of them follow:

"This is your humble servant, al-equipped for the fray. This was taken in our hangar, and you can see the mechanic working on one of the machines. This suit I have on is made of pure leather, and is very heavy.
Needless to say, it is not mine, but belongs to the instructor. It is quite cold up in the air these mornings."

A LARGE NUMBER ATTEND GOOD RUN

Cover Complete Course for the First Time Last Night in Good Time.

Things assumed a very business-like aspect when about a dozen runners turned out with the harriers last night.
This makes a total of over fifteen men in training for the annual run, in addition to the Macdonald College squad.
No word has been received from them as yet, but they have always had two or three runners in the race, so it is altogether likely that they will enter a team. At present it seems to be a toss between Arts and Science to see who will claim possession of the cup.
Up to a few days ago it looked very much like an easy thing for Arts, as they have nine runners in training.
The last couple of days, however, has produced two new men for Science in Kort and Wickenden, and both are going very strong. Medicine seems to be the weakest in numbers so far. They, however, have two good runners in Dean and Skinner. Dean was the winner of the Wickstead gym trophy last year, and is always up with leaders in the runs, while Skinner, although a new man, will make the most of them.

Last night the runners left the Stadium at 5.30, followed Pine avenue to the serpentine road, and from there wound their way up the mountain to the cross roads back of the Lookout.
As it was all up-hill work, an easy pace was set until the return journey.
Very few of the men had dropped back up to this point, but the pace was now quickened, and a few of those who had only been out a couple of nights began to linger behind. Gerrie began to set a stiff pace, but was overtaken by Macklin and Antliff at the upper reservoir. These three men bunched together until the Incline Railway was reached, when Bill Antliff seemed to get a new lease of life and sprinted away. By the time Fletcher's Field was reached he was fully 100 yards in front of Gerrie, while Macklin was following close on Gerrie's heels. In close succession came Dean, Wickenden and Skinner. The night was ideal for cross-country running, there being just enough briskness in the air to keep the men moving.

Amongst those out were Antliff, Ger-rie, Macklin, Dean, Wickenden, Skinner, Buchanan, Kert, Scriver and Derrick.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE AMONG THEOLOGUES

Prof. Graham, of the Wesleyan, Has Offered Cup to the Contestants.

The Theological Colleges around McGill have been showing considerable activity lately in athletics. The organization is partly completed of a basketball league among the Wesleyan, Diocesan and Congregational Colleges.

Representatives of the three colleges met yesterday and discussed plans for the organization. Each has a basketball court for practice purposes, and it was decided to try and secure some neutral place for the games. It is proposed that this organization shall be a permanent one. Prof. Graham, of the Wesleyan College, to encourage the scheme, has very kindly offered to provide a cup for competition.

A series of matches is being arranged to take place throughout the winter, with about one game each week. It was hoped when the formation of this league was first talked of that the Presbyterian College would also constitute a part of it, but unfortunately so far they have taken no active interest. It is hoped that even yet they may join in to help make it a success.

So far great enthusiasm has been shown by the colleges taking part, and this branch of athletics bids fair to be one of the most interesting around Mc-Gill this season, especially as there seems so far to be little activity in basketball elsewhere in the university.

MANY AMERICAN COLLEGES DROP ENGLISH RUGBY

University of California is First to Make Departure.

AMERICAN GAME POPULAR

Leland, Stanford, is Only One
Now Playing English
Game.

As a leading branch of intercollegiate sport, the game of rugby appears to be doomed on the Pacific coast, its only stronghold in this country. The death knell of the English game on this side of the water was practically sounded during the past summer when the University of California broke off athletic relations with Stanford University, and the former turned back to the American form of play.

The action of these colleges came about presumably over the question of admitting freshmen to the athletic teams. Stanford held out for playing freshmen. All efforts of faculties, graduates and disinterested parties have so far failed to bring the colleges together so that a rugby game could this fall.

Following the action of the University of California, many high schools in all parts of the state, and especially in the south, have turned back to the American game. Rugby is declared absolutely dead in southern California.
There the University of Southern California discarded rugby last year, and her example has been followed by nearly every high school and club team.

Stanford Only Standpater.
Stanford University stands alone as the survivor in the attempt to maintain rugby. At the university the faculty is determined that American football shall never be resumed. Leading students assert that even if the student body demanded the American game, the authorities would not permit it, so strong have they been prejudiced against that style of play.

The resumption of the American football game on the Pacific coast and the bringing of eastern competition to this territory will bind the east and west more closely. The Pacific coast colleges which are going back to the American game cannot, of course, expect to draw eastern competition the first year of play, but, with two or three years' development, hope to be able to furnish competition worthy of the eastern teams.

MORE TENNIS AT R.V.C. YESTERDAY

Season Growing Late and Remaining Games Must be Played Immediately.

The tennis season will soon be over now, as the weather man is asserting himself more forcibly every day; but as yet in both the inter-year and individual series there are matches to be played. These should be seen to as soon as possible. The individuals are creeping slowly on. So far the first round has been completed, and three matches on the second. These latter resulted as follows:

A. Wright won from L. Kilgour, 7-5, 10-8.
M. Spier won from E. Abbott, 6-3, 3-5, 7-5.
W. Wyatt won from E. Holland,
6-1, 6-2.

Every one concerned should make a special effort to finish these series right away.

The final game of the inter-class series was played yesterday at the Stadium at 4.15. A Arts '18, the winners in the Arts and Meds. championship, met Science '16, the winners in the Science faculty. As was anticipated the Seniors swamped the aspiring sophs. to the tune of 57-0. The crowd was one of the largest which has thus far witnessed one of the college games, the presence of many of R. V. C. damsels added a needed zest to some of the susceptible seniors. The sophs. did not by any means come up to their press notices by which they had been heralded as the only team in college.

Arts '18 kicked off and on the return the sophs. were held at half-way. On their downs '18 failed to make any headway at all and Farthing was forced to kick on the third down.
Ferguson caught the ball and tore off a 30 yard run before Nicholson succeeded in tackling him. Rosie went through the sophs. weak line on the next down for twenty-five yards, which took the ball to '18's five yard line. On the first down the seniors worked a fake buck and Woolatt went over for the first score of the game.
Williscroft failed in the convert. The score stood at 5-0 after two minutes and a half of play. On the kick off Williscroft returned to Farthing who was held at half-way. The sophs. tried a few end runs but the deadly tackling of the seniors prevent them making any gains. Science received the ball on Farthing's kick, but the sophs.
came to life and held them for two downs. Williscroft kicked on the third and scored a deadline, making the score 6-0. On the return from the quarter way drop Rutherford was held on his two yard line. On the first down Sears intercepted a pass and went over for a try which Woolatt converted.
Score, 12-0. The sophs. kicked off again and Williscroft returns to Rutherford. On the first down '18 kicked to Williscroft who muffed, Taylor the speedy soph. outside wing, secured the ball. The sophs. now decided that their only hope of stemming the tide of defeat lay in a kicking game and on their first down Farthing kicked.
Woolatt made a very fine running catch of this kick and in the ensuing melee MacLauchin, the rough-neck of the senior aggregation was laid out.
Some of the onlookers charged "Lancelot" Bieler, the rotund centre scrimmage of the sophs., of laying for Mac, but they afterwards thought that this same lad was in a day-dream during which his foot accidentally hit Mac, in the map.

On the senior's first down Rosie tore off a run of five yards, and was backed by Nicholson, who struck the goal post in making a great drive; it took some time to bring him back to life. The diminutive water-boy of the seniors was at this stage of the game conspicuous by his absence although there was a dark suspicion in the minds of many that he was "fussing."

Woolatt went over on the next down for a touchdown, which was not converted. Score, 17-0. The sophs. lost the ball on interference and Rounthwaite went through for fifteen yards on their first down. On the next down Rosie made a forty yard run which resulted in a touch which Woolatt converted. Score, 23-0. Quarter time was now called.

The sophs. kicked off and Williscroft was held on his twenty-five yard line. On '18's first down Williscroft made a beautiful punt over the heads of '18's backs and the seniors only obtained a rouge owing to loose play on the part of MacLauchin. Score, 24-0.

The seniors retained the ball on the kick off, they bucked the sophs. off their feet and Crutchfield went over for a touch which Woolatt failed to convert. Score, 29-0. This ended the scoring for the half the rest of the play being staged around centre field.

After a very short rest, as it was now becoming dark, '16 kicked off, '18 returned and Rosie ran the ball back to the sophs. two yard line. "Art" Brown went over on the next down for a touch which Woolatt converted.
Score, 35-0.

Williscroft tried a drop kick, but it failed to go over the bars and '16 only obtained a dead line a minute later.
Henry was forced to rouge making the score 37-0. The seniors retained possession and bucked the sophs. up the field, which resulted in Woolatt going over for a touch. Score, 42-0. Three-quarter time was now called.

Bone replaced Wilkins as outside wing on seniors. The seniors now proceeded to show up the sophs. and they pulled off some snappy end runs which resulted in Rosie going over for a try which Woolatt failed to convert. Score, 47-0. The '18 line at this time showed some signs of life and McCrimmon succeeded in bucking the '16 line for gains. However, the bucking of the seniors was too much for '18 and "Babe" Ryan went over for another touch, which Woolatt failed to convert.
Loose work on the part of '18 resulted in Woolatt making another touch, which he again failed to convert. Game over. Score, 57-0.
